LOCAL GREEN ATLANTA

A fast casual restaurant whose mission is to redefine healthy, affordable food for all by creating an ecosystem based on trust and accountability. Eating well isn't just about fresh, healthy foods-for us, the community is the key ingredient.

OUR STORY

A legend in the Atlanta music scene, Zachary "Big Zak" Wallace has penned chart topping hits for some of the industry's biggest names. Born in Southwest Atlanta, Wallace grew up in a food desert, where he experienced an environment plagued with empty calories, high fats and sky high sodium levels. Wallace saw first hand the effects of food insecurity and how poor eating habits frustrated the wellbeing of his community.

In 2018, he sought out to make a difference. Local Green Atlanta was designed centering the need to expand access to fresh food and improve health outcomes in Atlanta's underserved neighborhoods. The Local Green concept initially started as a food truck and scaled to a brick-and-mortar restaurant in Atlanta's Westside community and a food truck at Walt Disney World Resorts. We envision redefining the meaning of "eating well" with great tasting, affordable, nutrient-rich foods paired with a cultural experience that binds us together around a meal.

Highlighted on The Today Show

Partnered with Walt Disney World to bring the first Black-owned food truck to Disney Springs

"OUR CULTURE IS SO RICH, YET OUR HABITS ARE SO POOR. LOCAL GREEN EXISTS OUT OF A NECESSITY. THERE WAS NOTHING IN THE COMMUNITY LIKE THIS. SO I TOOK A GAMBLE...ON US."
